

Activities Will Elect 6 To Student Council

By Frank Ford Burnet

● WITH THE FINAL protests over, the last "at-large" election: barely settled, the Student Council last week authorized another set of elections for the activity seats on the new Council, which will take place in June. (See the complete Election Rules accompanying this story.—Ed.)

Procedure Is Outlined

Procedure is to be followed in this:

1. Conventions of delegates from five groups of related activities will meet and elect one delegate from each group to the Student Council.
2. Every organization on campus is entitled to send three delegates to the convention representing its particular classification. (Complete classifications will be found at the end of this story.)
3. The groups and their convention dates are as follows:
Forensics, Thursday, May 12, 8:15 p.m.
Music, Friday, May 13, 8:15 p.m.
Publications, Saturday, May 14, 2 p.m.
Departmental clubs, Monday, May 16, 8:15 p.m.
Miscellaneous organization, Tuesday, May 17, 8:15 p.m.
4. The Freshman Director, who is classed as a "functional" officer, will be chosen by a convention composed of three delegates each from the Freshman and Sophomore Clubs. Convention date is tomorrow at 3 p.m.
5. The rules provide that no instructions to delegates by their organizations will be enforced by the Elections Committee, nor will such instructions be recognized.
6. Meeting places for all conventions will be posted tomorrow on the door of the Student Council office.

Election of these six delegates will bring the roster of the new Student Council up to its total of 14 members, provided in the new Articles of Student Government.

The five activity delegates will serve until February, 1939, and the Freshman Director until June, 1939. The Articles provide for staggered

Council Plans Next Year's Program

● THE ACTIVITIES COUNCIL last week started formulating plans for a series of major events for next year, and for non-conflicting meeting nights—requesting cooperation of all campus organizations.

Major events which are planned for the first semester of next year are Freshman Mixer, All-University Dance, Literary Club Production, Frosh-Soph Prom, Independent's Dance, Fall Symphony Club Program, and the Lens and Shutter contest.

Second semester events planned are Independent Dance, Cherry Blossom Drive, W. A. A. Recreation Program, Spring Fellowship-Religious Conference, Riding Club Horse Show, Spring Symphony Club Program, All-University Prom, Spring Orchestra Program, the Union Speaking Contest, and Lens and Shutter Contest.

No dates have been set for these events, but Jack Shulman, Publicity Director-elect, who appeared at the invitation of Council President Burnet, urged the sponsoring organizations to arrange the dates before the end of this year, in order that they may be included in the Handbook, and considered for closed dates.

Patriotism Prompts Taher To Prefer Engineering to Art

● "I WANT TO learn to do something for my government," said Mahmood Taher, Persian student, in explaining why he chose an engineering course here. He had just been asked by a friend, who had seen his many portraits and color drawing, why he hadn't taken up an art course.

"My government needs lots of engineers to build railroads and roads and bridges, and I can serve it better by helping in this way than by art," he added.

Taher was secretary of the Persian legation here before it was withdrawn after the affair Elktion two years ago, has since devoted his time to his studies, art and travel in the summer.

As a camera enthusiast and a traveler, he has collected hundreds of pictures of the interesting places he has visited, including most of the famous European capitals, Mexico and Canada. His linguistic ability is also something to marvel at, for in his three years here he has mastered our written language and is seldom at a loss in speaking it; as well as being able to converse in French.

Twenty-seven years old and nephew of the Iranian Minister of Finance, Taher started his career with the government-owned railroads in Iran, to which he expects to return as an engineer.

Extremely proud of his native land, and its development under the new king, His Imperial Majesty lengthy paper on the subject, in 1926, Mr. Taher has written a Riza Shah, who ascended the throne which he tells of the advance in education. He says that false criticism has been leveled at the increase in expenditures for the army and

Mortar Board "Taps" 9

● NINE JUNIOR women who have high scholastic averages and many extra-curricular attainments were honored Saturday afternoon at May Day exercises in The Yard when they were tapped by Mortar Board, women's senior honorary society.

Those tapped were: Marjorie Allen, Dorothy Ames, Elizabeth Burnett, Elizabeth Griswold, Barbara Harmon, Carol Hobart, Marie McNeese, Muriel Merelman, and Mary Jo Mitchell.

Apple-Polishing Luncheons

● THE SECOND Apple-Polishing Luncheon, in the Student Club Saturday, May 14, at 1:30 p.m., will honor the English Department. The charge will be thirty-five cents a person. Other members of the faculty are invited to attend. Reservations for the luncheon must be made by Friday.

Initiation ceremonies were held Sunday morning in Columbian House and were followed by a breakfast in the Student Club.

The women, tapped, their scholastic averages, and activities records are as follows:

Elizabeth Burnett

Elizabeth Burnett, (2.82), Treasurer of Women's Athletic Association, Vice-President of Baptist Student Union, Secretary of International Student's Society, member of the French Club, Spanish Club, and Sigma Kappa Sorority.

Elizabeth Griswold, (3.14), President of Kappa Delta Sorority, President of Columbian College Council, Secretary-Treasurer of Student Council, Secretary of Intramural Board, and Editor of The Cherry Tree, and member of Cue and Curtain.

Barbara Harmon, (2.65), Program Director of Student Council, Vice-President and Publicity Chairman of W.A.A., Manager of Women's Basketball and Assistant Manager of Tennis and Basketball, Hatchet Senior Reporter, Women's Sports Editor of The Cherry Tree, Secretary and Vice-President of Sigma Kappa Sorority, Treasurer of Delphi, Social Chairman of Activities Council, and member of Pi Delta Epsilon.

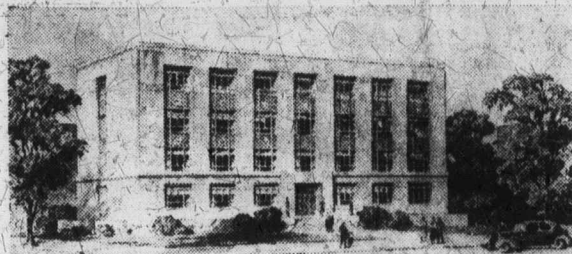

Carol Hobart

Carol Hobart, (2.80), Captain of Rifle Team, Secretary of Psychology Club, of W.A.A., and of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority, and member of Glee Club.

Marie McNeese, (3.93), President of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, Organizations Editor of The Cherry Tree, Captain of Rifle Team, Hatchet Junior Reporter, member of Alpha Lambda Delta, Pi Delta Epsilon, Delphi, Fencing Club, New

On The Way

Cornerstone Of New Hall Of Government Will Be Laid May 18

● CEREMONIES symbolizing the dedication of the University to the preservation of constitutional government, and the laying of the cornerstone of the new Hall of Government will feature the University's observance of Constitution Day, May 18.

Mrs. Henry Alvah Strong, donor of the Hall of Government, now rising on the campus, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Corrin Strong will be guests of honor at the ceremonies.

Dr. Harry C. Davis, secretary of the board, is chairman of the committee on arrangements. Serving with him on the committee are representatives of faculty, alumni, and student organizations. Student members of the committee are Winfield Rankin, Bill Rochelle and Frank Weitzel.

Masons Lay Cornerstone

The cornerstone of the hall will be laid by the Grand Lodge of Masons of the District of Columbia. Masonic bodies have contributed largely to the development of the School of Government. A one million dollar endowment was received in 1928 from the Supreme Council, Scottish Rite Masons of the Southern Jurisdiction.

The National League of Masonic Clubs each year contributes to the support of chairs in Foreign Service and has established twelve scholarships. The Order of Knights Templar of the United States of America has established seven fellowships providing for graduate study in the school.

Immediately following the laying of the cornerstone, a reception will be held in honor of Mrs. Strong at the Hattie M. Strong Residence Hall for Women, which she gave to the University last year.

Gift Made Last Year

Mrs. Strong's gift of the Hall of Government was made anonymously last June and it was not until February, after the site had been selected, and work on the building was about to begin that she was persuaded by President Cloyd Heck Marvin to permit it to be announced in her name.

The hall is being erected by Mrs. Strong as a tribute to her son, L. Corrin Strong, without whose hearty cooperation it could not become a reality, and in appreciation of his willingness to give up a personal career to carry on.

Union Considers Revamping

● THIRTY PEOPLE, selected by the Executive Council of the Union, will meet Friday at 8:00 p.m. in Columbian House in the first of a series of discussions to start effecting what was described as "radical reconstruction of the Union's machinery, if not its aims."

Frosh Orators Will Take Part In Annual Meet

● THE ANNUAL freshman oratorical contest, sponsored by Phi Sigma Kappa, will be held at 8:15 tomorrow in Columbian House.

Speakers and their subjects are: Raymond H. Keiser, "The Reasons Why Physical Education Is Gradually Making Its Place in the Curriculum of Our American Universities"; Emily Sirola, "Flower Impressions"; Ita Brown, "Jefferson's Real Memorial"; Michael McKool, "Can We Trust His Majesty's Government?"; Henry C. Reasin, "Shall We Keep Forgetting The Forgotten Man?"; Dr. Harold Harding, of the Public Speaking Department, will serve as one of the judges. The other two judges have not yet been selected.

Arthur Coffman, president of Phi Sigma Kappa, will preside as chairman of the contest.

Students Vote On Assessment Friday; Plan Would Yield $15,000 For Surgical Care, Endowment

By Roy Collins

● THE STUDENT LIFE Committee last week dismissed a protest which was filed by the Service Party Chief on the first day of elections against the Election Committee's action in upholding the nomination of George Pughe for Advocate.

Pughe, who had been nominated by both the Non-Partisan League and the Independent Voters' League, was the only candidate not on the Service slate to gain office.

Only the faculty members of the SLC voted on the decision, since the student members, who are members of the Student Council, cannot review an action of the Student Council, or of one of its committees.

● STUDENTS WILL BE GIVEN the opportunity Friday to decide whether they want to pay a dollar per semester for surgical care and a Student Commons building, Bill Rochelle, Council President, said Sunday.

According to the announcement, ballot boxes will be set up in Buildings C and D, Stockton Hall and the Medical School, and ballots will be furnished each voter at the polling places.

If the plan is favorably received by the student body, it will be submitted to the University administration for approval.

The proposed assessment, which is expected to yield $15,000 each year will be placed in two separate funds; $5,000 will be set aside for surgical aid for any student and the balance will provide an endowment for the erection of a Student Commons building to house club-room facilities and a student store.

In explaining the benefits to be gained from the proposed assessment, proponents of the plan emphasized the fact that this fund is not to be confused with the regular activity fee. According to the terms of the plan, the fund is to be administered by the students under the supervision of the University administration. $5,000 each year will be placed in a "sinking fund" to pay for any surgical care which may be needed by any student.

This is not a plan of group hospitalization. The student will be provided with surgical care by any doctor of his choice and his fee will be paid out of the communal fund.

The second fund will provide 20-year paid-up endowment of approximately $320,000, which will be used for the construction of the Commons Building.

Sponsors of the plan pointed out that the student body would not have to wait the full 20 years for the building, but it is intended that the structure be built in the very near future and paid for twenty years from now with the fund which will have accrued.

Stressing the importance of voting in the referendum, Rochelle said:

"It is imperative that as many students as possible vote on this question, in order that we may get a result truly indicative of student opinion."

Proposed Plan

1. One-dollar per semester from each student.
2. It will be underwritten by the Equitable Life Insurance Company of New York.
3. Surgical care by your own doctor will be provided. However, hospitalization must be at the University Hospital.
4. The University does not receive any of the money, but merely acts as a collecting agent for the underwriting company.
5. It is not socialized medicine.
6. A surplus will accrue which will be used for the erection of a student commons building.

University Offered $15,000 Radio Station

● A $15,000 BROADCASTING station has been offered the University, Horace Lohnes, well-known Washington attorney, revealed last week.

Equipment and installation will be no expense to the school. The only requirement is to furnish proper housing facilities for a studio and the transmitter, the attorney said.

Lohnes, a law alumnus, who is desirous of having his alma mater be one of the first universities to pioneer in the new field of radio broadcasting station will use.

A firm of radio engineers which Lohnes represents has obtained permission to construct a 1,000-watt transmitter of this new type "frequency modulation" in Washington.

This firm, Jausky and Bailey, is working in conjunction with Maj. Howard S. Armstrong, a radio engineer at Columbia University.

Prominent Inventor

Armstrong, who was in charge of all A.E.F. signal corps work during the World War developed the present-day superheterodyne receivers and sold his patent rights for a million and a quarter dollars. He has invented this new type of broadcasting which is closely aligned with facsimile reproduction and television.

Receivers for "picking up" transmissions in this field are available but require further perfection. Jausky and Bailey are willing to build the transmitter at George Washington and let student engineers operate it under supervision of the firm.

No Restrictions

There would be no restrictions whatsoever and no end of opportunity would be offered the University in this field, according to Lohnes.

Program direction would be entirely up to the students, under supervision of the public speaking department.

Frequencies on two bands would be obtained for the station, one in the present broadcast band and the other in an ultra high frequency band for experimental purposes.

Programs would be sent out simultaneously over both bands. They could be picked up by most of the modern receivers and also by special receivers adapted to the high frequency.

Fifty of these receivers would be obtained for the station.

Freshman Congress Convenes

● SIXTY-FIVE FRESHMEN from four universities participated in the first annual Freshman Congress, sponsored by the Freshman Club of this University, Friday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. The principal speakers were Senator Ernest Lundeen, of Minnesota, and Jeanette Rankin, former Congresswoman from Montana.

The general program of the Congress consisted of Registration, the Morning General Session, at which Senator Lundeen spoke; Luncheon, round table sessions on seven topics and the afternoon general session at which Miss Rankin spoke.

Lerner is General Chairman

Eugene M. Lerner president of the Freshman Club was general chairman of the Congress. He was assisted by Edward J. Snyder, Georgetown University Freshman Class President; Jane Mann, social chairman of the Freshman Club; and Murray Berdick, publicity chairman of the Freshman Club.

The round table topics and speakers were Journalism, Mr. Ben Dunlavy, day city editor of the Washington Post; the Theatre, Mr. Pitt Herbert and Mr. William Bishop, featured players in "Tobacco Road"; Foreign Service, Mr. Howland Shaw, chief of the Division of Foreign Service Personnel of the State Department.

Other Round Tables

Other round tables were Law, Dr. Huntington Cairns, assistant general counsel of the Treasury Department; Engineering, Mr. Frederick M. Felker, executive secretary of the American Council of Engineers; Public Health, Dr. M. P. Isaminger, director of the Bureau of Public Health Education of the District of Columbia; and Education, Mr. Arthur F. Corey, director of Special Adult Education

Student Surgical Care

AN ISSUE which concerns in a most vital way the interests of every student—involving as it does the power of the purse—will be settled at a student referendum on Friday of this week on the question of whether the present University fee of $8 per semester shall be boosted another $1 to provide for a plan of surgical care to supplement the present medical care and for the building of a Student Union building.

Inasmuch as the plan is being submitted by the Student Council and not by the University administration, every student owes it to himself and to his interests to register his views on this question by voting in the poll planned to secure the endorsement of a good representation of the student body before the program can be put into operation at the beginning of the next University year.

There are many angles to the question of whether the Council's plan should be adopted or rejected. For one thing, there is the matter of double coverage that some students might receive under the addition to their present coverage under group health and other plans offered in the government service. Also there is the vital problem of the willingness or the lack of it on the part of the students to pay an additional $2 during the school year.

Inasmuch as the action for the plan has been instituted by the students representative of the student body, the student body as a whole should exert their prerogative by voting its approval or disapproval of the program that the Council has adopted, for by this action and by this action only can the Student Council get the feeling that it has the backing of the student body in its action.

No restrictions have been placed upon voting and polls have been conveniently located on the campus, so that there is little excuse for not voting on this important issue.

Interests Of Government

CERTAIN FACTS have come to light regarding the activity conventions for election of Student Council delegates this week and next which confirm our impression that Elections Chairman Gausmann's interest in elections is not so wholeheartedly impartial as he would like to have students believe.

Mr. Gausmann has apparently approved his own selection as a delegate to the forensics convention from the Union, which again places the Elections Chairman in the position of running an election as chairman and participating as an active partisan.

For the second time within a month, we are forced to demand that Mr. Gausmann resign either his chairmanship or his partisanship.

During the last election, Mr. Gausmann tried to run for office on a partisan ticket while serving as elections chairman. This anomalous situation prevailed until, under pressure, Mr. Gausmann resigned his candidacy.

We call on Mr. Gausmann to resign. If he has not resigned by Thursday, the Union should remove him as delegate, or the forensics convention should take the matter into its own hands.

Mr. Gausmann no doubt will protest that he is entirely impartial, and we are willing to admit that he as chairman probably would be entirely impartial to himself as delegate. A Pooh-Bah holding six offices could do no less, as Gilbert and Sullivan would say.

Mr. Gausmann, however, has gone even further in his attempt to govern what should be open conventions expressing the will of the activity groups. He has announced that all balloting in conventions will be secret.

The wisdom of secret ballots may be debated—and such ballots are highly questionable in open, democratic conventions—but that Mr. Gausmann has exceeded his authority is unquestionable.

There is nothing in the election rules which gives the chairman any right to prescribe any convention procedure except the general one that Robert's Rules shall be followed.

It is to be hoped that all conventions will make up their own minds as to how they will vote.

It is the will of the conventions which is important, not Mr. Gausmann's edicts.

University Radio Station

AN OFFER of a $15,000 radio station for the exclusive use of the University has been made by a noted alumni during the past week. All that the University need do is to furnish the housing and facilities that may be required for the operation of the outfit, and of course, the most important factor—the conducting of the programs to be broadcast.

Such an offer to the University is surely worthy of the consideration of the administrative authorities of the University, and it is the hope of all concerned that the University will be able to take advantage of the offer that has been so generously tendered.

The matter of the furnishing of the programs that will be broadcast is the crux of the problem of installing the station. Whether or not the student body and the University as a whole is ready for such a thing is debatable, to say the least. Acceptance of the offer and immediate action in setting up the station, if proper handling of the station can be assured, would be an important step forward in the progress of the University as an educational institution.

The Way Things Are

Why Should You Do Anything About The Faculty?

Educational Trouble a Closed Circle—Co-Operation May Break It

By Howard Ennes

This is the fourth of a series of articles examining the University in a number of phases, from the point of view of a four-year student. Some conclusions in regard to the faculty are herein presented.

IV.

● TO REPEAT a statement made in this department last week:

"The effective, inspiring, and honest functioning of the faculty is basic; without such a faculty there is no university."

Nothing startling there; if anything, such a comment is the mere statement of the obvious qualities absolutely essential to the person who takes upon himself the extremely important task of shaping the minds of young persons.

Yet, as I suggested last week, there are not many "effective" professors; fewer "inspiring" teachers, and, unfortunately, a very few "dishonest" persons.

These are broad terms, yet terms upon which most of us can probably agree as to their implications.

● "Effectiveness," for instance, Without much dissent, I believe we can agree that it is necessary that the professor develop and utilize a technique of teaching that brings to the student in clear and succinct terms the facts of his subject. With a few qualifications as to fairness and honesty—in picking the facts, this would seem to define an effective teacher.

There is an additional aspect of this "effectiveness," however, that I would like to suggest here.

As background, let us recall the location of the University in the Nation's Capital, and the general relation of a university to its immediate community and the nation.

"Effectiveness," from this approach, would indicate a participation and contribution to the solution of national and local problems. Faculty in the social sciences, it seems to me, have a very definite obligation to make their services and ideas available in these connections. Yet, in the past, little has been done.

Effectiveness in the Community

The local tax situation, self-government for the District of Columbia, or a multitude of other local problems, for instance, could have been made the subject of practical investigations by professors or groups of professors of the University.

OTHER

CAMPI

By ABE SIMON

● Before the LaFollette-sponsored, National Progressive Party was a week old, student commentators on various college publications had already swung into action "interpreting" the significance of this new third-party movement.

Says Columnist Jules Schwerin of the Daily Northwestern: Middle-Class Apathy

"Already the bugle call to action has been sounded by Governor Phil LaFollette from progressive Wisconsin. His National Progressive Party may be the necessary tonic to arouse 'middle-class America' against the apathy of the two traditional parties of capital."

Scribe J. David McNeill of the Tulane Hullahaloo takes another viewpoint. Evidently fearing dissension among the liberals, he writes:

"Coming at a time when the co-operation of all liberals is necessary to secure the passage of recovery legislation, the LaFollette move can only be an encouragement to reactionary elements."

An eastern college newspaper, the Lehigh University Brown and White, commenting upon the importance of this new development, remains noncommittal in an unsigned editorial which concludes with:

"It remains to be seen whether this new group will fizzle out or become a major political figure, perhaps even replacing the elephant with the hardened arteries."

Corsage Boycott
● The custom of sending corsages to dates for dances has been on the defensive recently as unofficial campaigns in various colleges have so often been organized against it.

Perhaps the most dangerous attack on this practice so far is at the University of North Carolina where the junior-senior dance committee is considering abolishing it, following an organized "Don't say it with flowers!" movement on the campus.

Name a Fountain
● A prize of $50 will be awarded to the student at the University of Kentucky who submits the best name for the soda grill in the new Student Union building at that school.

● Kappa Alpha of Wake Forest College recently won the Pan-Hel scholarship cup for the third consecutive year, thus winning it permanently.

● Pi Beta Phi at Syracuse University won in the semi-finals of the step-singing competition last week at that university, thereby earning the right to compete in the finals.

● About 300 mothers were the guests of Gettysburg College at that school's 15th annual Mother's Day celebration last Sunday.

● Journalists at the University of Kentucky recently enjoyed their annual vacation when the entire staff of the Kentucky Kernel, the student publication, went on a picnic.

versity. The results would probably not only be of material help to the city, but to the professor himself, not to speak of the notice inevitably accruing to the University.

And the national field of politics, economics, and sociology strikes me as being particularly fertile for similar work, done either for the government or as individual projects in the University. Along this line, the necessity for a publication utilizing the vast facilities of a "University in the Nation's Capital" seems paramount.

Such work by professors would certainly fit the definition of "effectiveness" and would go a long way toward filling the stipulations of "inspiring" teaching.

● We could hardly go wrong to say that an "inspiring" professor is one whose lectures, whose class discussions, whose very personality urges an interested student on more, the "inspiring" and really effective teacher is the one whose work and manner permeates the uninterested student so far as to make him interested and inquisitive.

"Honesty" naturally underlies all of these qualifications, and I went to some length last week to describe the few relatively "dishonest" professors we carry at George Washington University. It is unnecessary to go into detail again on the obligations of the professor, particularly if he is to carry the responsibility of a censor and an interpreter of facts which I attributed to him last week.

To recognize such facts, and then to ask ourselves, as student and citizens, this question: What can I do about it?

"It's Our Job . . ."

I'm not at all sure what we can do. But there is one thing I am sure about: It's our job—"our" job means concerned with the more full development of democracy and all it implies—to accept the task of spurring the faculty on from our places in the class room.

I've sat through an awful lot of dull classes, due, primarily, I think, to a professor who did not supply the initial spark of life; but I believe I can appreciate this task of inspiration when I consider the general lack of interest evidenced by a great majority of students.

The train of causes here goes in a circle, for it seems quite evident that such lack of interest is traceable to a faulty common educational system which, in turn, is traceable to a misdirected higher education system which has not been able to pull the public system out of the hands of politicians and "professional educators" and which has not been able to transmit a sufficient degree of enthusiasm to primary and secondary teachers.

This circle must be broken somewhere, and I feel that "somewhere" could very well be in the university; by a cooperative move of teachers and students who recognize the situation. Comments during the past week by professors and students indicate that such a move is not outside the realm of possibility.

Student Urges Election Rules Changes

To the Editor:

An appraisal of this year's Student Council election indicates, as has been the case with several past elections, that most of the qualified voters in the University failed to come out and express their sentiments on which persons should be entrusted to running the important student posts during the next year.

Several causes, including the hampering rules set up by the Elections Committee, tend to inform students sufficiently about the activity books before the election, apparently were responsible to some extent for the light vote. As is always true, however, a considerable number of students would have voted even if no identification had been required. There is always a sizeable margin who "don't have time to vote," who "don't know about the election," or who "don't give a whoop about casting their illegal votes."

If the Election Committee thought it was going to prevent the casting of illegal votes by requiring students to present their activity books when they voted, they were undoubtedly mistaken. Even though most observers agree that the current election was perhaps "clean," it is a result of the voting machines, they are just as quick to conclude that several students "voted" without coming near the balloting booth.

As was noted, there were chances to use the activity books for disinterested people; no less than seven people, representing both major parties, were hailed before the Elections Committee for a hearing. Technically they were charged with "stuffing the ballots." That charge constitutes a broad term, and may include everything from destroying an opposing party's campaign literature to actually employing the use of another's official credentials.

With all due credit to members of the Election Committee's sense of perception, it nevertheless remains an indisputable fact that many students failed to vote because of the activity book rule. Poll taken among students selected simply at random, representing members of all three parties, showed that out of twelve people questioned on why they did not vote, nine never came to the voting machine because they had misplaced or discarded their activity book.

Many Lack Credentials
To this they may say these twelve people are a small minority and would not have changed the election either way. Granted, that, at the same time, doesn't it seem reasonable that on the average just as many people in the University didn't have the necessary credentials?

During the second semester a number of people do not attend events which they are invited to, or they do not show up for their activity books. Probably an inestimable number threw away their books at the end of the basketball season. The Elections Committee didn't announce last February that activity books would be required to vote in the spring election.

It seems if the Student Council is interested in bringing out a full student vote in future elections it will see to it the present rules are changed and substituted in their place efficient regulations which won't work a hardship on those who have discarded or misplaced their activity books.

The Meditations of One in for Ten Years

● Yours truly is a what is known by the school and the fraternity as a "good prospect" for I am a ten-year student. So far I have been here a little short of four years, but I can't help but feel of one who has lived here many years point out to the lowly first and second year student the time when I first worked on The Hatchet over in the other building, and I can tell them of all the old timers I knew "way back when."

I believe the School and the Fraternity are happy to receive a "student" like myself who stays here for a ten-year period as we must be what is known as the backbone of the University. As far as the fraternity is concerned they are sure to get my tremendous dues each and every month and that is why I say I am one of the true "fish."

Imagine my surprise the other day, then, when I went to see my adviser about changing into another school—still on this campus, my friends, for after the fourth year one should be allowed to leave Junior College, and he asked me why I was going to college? In all my four years this problem has never come up to kick me in the teeth.

Why am I going to college? Well, you have sure got me—why am I going to college? I admit that after four years I should know why. I have been doing something for four years but up to now, and even now, I do not consider the matter too important.

He, himself, said that all his degrees had never done him much good, and that what I ought to do was to go after one degree and get out and stop all my foolishness about getting an AB and then a law degree.

Truly, I am stumped, the problem presented is so large that I think it will take me at least three more years to find out why I went the first four, and by that time I shall be so near graduating that I will probably figure a year or two longer will not be too bad.

Perhaps the reason I am going is that I enjoy myself so much at night school. It is like most things—it has become a habit.

When I think or when I thought, of quitting it all—I began to wonder what I would do if I did not go to night school, and as I could not think of anything—so natural with me—well, a ten-year student did not seem so bad. (What an I man am I.) Phew—

Then, too, there is the great happiness which I now find myself in occasionally at a bull session around school. I can remember back to the time when some guy first had his picture in the paper, and I can tell of the first experience I had at such and such a party—but why am I going to college? Quiet, please.

The Activity Scene

Independents Need House; Co-op Plan Suggested

Activity Elections Already "Fixed"

By Frank Ford Burnet

● The great need of Independents as an organized group is a house, and I recommend to them the cooperative house idea.

To some this might look like another step in creating an Independent "fraternity" without a Greek name, but the resemblance is only on the surface.

That anybody will oppose social organizations as such is highly doubtful—particularly Independents who have claimed as one of their chief purposes the development of a social program for the unaffiliated student.

Independents are in fact—despite their recent assault on the ballot boxes—a social group just as much as the fraternities, and if they can learn any lessons from the Greeks, they ought to do it.

Of all things which develop a spirit of comradeship, of appreciation of one's fellows, of common endeavor which creates the tradition of "college life" in a college having no campus, nothing is so important or successful as a house.

A house would mean not only a dozen fellows or so living in one place; a house would serve as a gathering place, a focal point of Independent activity.

Recreational facilities such as ping-pong tables could be set up. Parties, card games, small dances could be given.

If a dozen Independents would get together, they could rent a house near the campus and operate it on the co-op plan.

Don Cooper and some other students have already demonstrated that it can be done.

Why not this summer?

While the politicians are grinding their axes for a final spurge of vote-getting in the activity elections this week and next, organizations which in the past have been largely untouched by political struggles might do well to consider whether the deadening entry of politics can be tolerated.

Activities under the direct control of executive boards will, of course, be controlled by the politicians, who are already "lining up" their support.

However, groups in the Departmental and Miscellaneous classifications, which are listed elsewhere in this issue, are a trifle large to be so controlled. If they will all elect delegates they will have a chance to elect delegates outside the political field.

The Student Council probably will be disappointed if it subscribes actually and not merely officially to the provisions in the election rules declaring against "rotation" of the activity jobs and the "instruction" of delegates on the ground that such practices are "not in the best interests of student government."

As far as rotation is concerned, only one group has ever had any such system—Publications. That the gentlemen's agreement will be maintained is a foregone conclusion. And I will venture that there will not be a single delegate to the conventions of Publications, Music, Forensics, and Freshman Director who, lacking any actual formal instruction, does not know in advance for whom he is to vote.

Nine delegates will make up the conventions of each of these groups except Freshman Director, where six will make the choice. The small numbers make it absolutely certain that the selection of every delegation will be controlled by political considerations. These elections will be mere formalities.

The two larger groups—Departmental and Miscellaneous—have a maximum convention membership of about 45 each, which will be much harder to control or "fix."

These organizations should remember that the activity delegates will be the only representation they will have in student government. It is to their best interests to proceed immediately to elect their three convention delegates—each calling special meetings if necessary.

And they might well remember the Student Council's warning on "instruction."

DeAngelis Thanks Student Supporters

To the Editor:

During the course of the past semester, as director of the Buff 'N Blue Room, I have had to depend upon the support of the Student Body for the success of my efforts not only for attendance at the several showings, but also for the furnishing of the talent that appeared. I must say the cooperation that was accorded to me was highly gratifying.

On behalf of the Buff 'N Blue Room, I wish to take this opportunity to thank all of those who contributed in any way to the success of the venture, for without your aid nothing could have been accomplished.

Vinnie De Angelis,
Director, Buff 'N Blue Room.

W. A. A. Holds Annual Spring Dinner May 18

● MARY HAWORTH, columnist for the Women's Page of The Washington Post, has been secured as guest speaker for the annual spring banquet of the Women's Athletic Association, scheduled for May 18 at 7:45 at The Parrot. Following the usual custom, presentation of awards will be made.

The name of the toastmistress for the evening is being withheld. Hazel Smallwood, in charge of the banquet, announced that all those guessing her name will be admitted free of charge.

One of the most important events of the evening will be the presentation of a cup to the outstanding senior woman. This award is made on the basis of scholarship, leadership, activities, and service to W. A. A. Likewise, awards will be made to other prominent junior and senior women on the same basis. However, a junior is eligible only if she has received her major letter.

Tennis and archery cups will be awarded at the banquet, along with the award of points and letters. Alison Claffin and Hazel Smallwood, respectively, were winners of these cups last year. Reports from those clubs connected with the Association will be made.

President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin, Mrs. Winnie G. Barrows, and Mrs. Joshua M. Evans have been invited as guests.

Tickets are $1.10 each.

Famous Old G St. Houses Mark Campus

● MANY OF THE old houses surrounding our University campus have served in the past as the homes of nationally famous men.

At 2022 G Street lived Gen. William Worth Belknap, Secretary of War during Grant's administration. Belknap was the center of a national bribery scandal in 1876 that involved charges of accepting $25,000 from John S. Evans, a local trader in Oklahoma. The General was saved from impeachment by lack of the necessary two-thirds vote in the Senate.

Of interest to the law students of the University is the Ivy-covered house on the southwest corner of 18th and G Streets. Here lived William Wirt, one of the great lawyers of the early days of the Republic. President Jefferson chose Wirt to serve as prosecutor for the State against Aaron Burr. At the George Washington University's first commencement, on December 15, 1824, among the distinguished guests were William Wirt, then serving as Attorney General of the United States, President James Monroe, and General Lafayette.

The laying of Cyrus W. Field's Atlantic cable was made possible by Commander Matthew Fontaine Maury, who once lived on the northeast corner of 19th and G Streets. It was his knowledge of ocean currents and the topography of the ocean floor that guided the laying of the first transatlantic cable.

Sorority Hall Social Room Available

● AN ADDITION to the social facilities of the University was recently announced by the Sorority Hall council. The old Cue and Curtain workshop, taken over last fall by Sorority Hall, has been converted into a recreation hall suitable for small dances and social gatherings.

Although the building is under the control of and is leased by Sorority Hall, it is understood that the council will make the hall available to a limited extent to various organizations of the campus for private functions.

The use of the old workshop as a recreation hall was contemplated at the time of the purchase of the Sorority Hall property some two years ago. However, due to the need of a practice hall and storage space by Cue and Curtain, the building was made available to them until last fall.

Responsibility for the new hall will be vested in the Sorority Hall council, which was originally in the nature of a "housecleaning committee" but which has recently grown to accommodate increased responsibilities of governing Sorority Hall. Although flooring and painting was performed by the University, Sorority Hall must provide the furniture and decorate the new recreation center. Some work along this line has already been accomplished, and a benefit bridge tourney was held there last Tuesday with approximately 160 attending.

Chi Upsilon Initiates 11 Tuesday Night

● INITIATION of 11 new members was conducted by Chi Upsilon, women's geological sorority, Tuesday evening.

The ceremony was held at the home of Elizabeth Cullen, formerly an honorary member, who was among those initiated.

Others were: Maria Carr, Ida Florence Chapin, Verda Dougherty, Katherine Eberly, Marian Scott, Nellie Evans, Helen Fleck, Marion Jaster, Ethel Jenkins, Clara Larson, M. Elmira Lytle.

The next meeting will be held the last week of this month at the home of Helen Masson, when plans for the seventh annual anniversary dinner will be completed.

Morning Glories

Pictured above, left to right, are Kay Frazier and Mariam Fowler, who have placed first in Lee Everett's "Old Sol Amateur Contest." Kay Frazier and Mariam Fowler, both of Sigma Kappa, won the honors for the last week in April, while Elizabeth Burnett, also of Sigma Kappa, won the prize for the first week in May. This program is sponsored by the Peoples Drug Store Co. and is broadcast at 8 a.m. Thursday and Saturday over Station WMAL.

SORORITIES

● ALPHA DELTA PI entertained with their traditional spring formal at the Washington Hotel last night.

● KAPPA DELTA entertained with their annual spring formal at the house Sunday.

● PHI-MU. Mr. and Mrs. John William Brower announce the engagement of their daughter, Jane Compton, to William Bland Allen, Jr. The wedding will take place the last of June at Front Royal, Va.

● ZETA TAU. ALPHA gave a Mother's Day tea at the home of Martha Reizach Sunday.

Zeta announces the pledging of Marie Hatke.

● SIGMA KAPPA will hold its spring formal at the Kenwood Country Club May 19 in honor of Frances Prather, and Isabel Richwine, seniors.

● PHI SIGMA SIGMA elected the following officers at a recent meeting: Estelle Weinstein, president; Cynthia Michaelson, vice president; Florence Hayes, recording secretary; Sonya Braunstein, corresponding secretary; Ivy Lehman, treasurer.

● DELTA ZETA held a Mother's Day tea in the rooms Sunday.

The spring formal will be held at the Powhatan May 26.

● THE FIRST group of alumni members of the former Theta Upsilon Omega fraternity was initiated into Sigma Phi Epsilon Sunday. The ceremonies were conducted by alumni officers, and a total of twenty-four men were initiated.

Eugene Boardman, prominent Washington attorney, presided and was ably assisted by Sig Ep Grand Marshall Herbert Qualls. Several other alumni and members of the active chapter also participated in the degree work.

A buffet dinner was served at 1 o'clock. Morgan Percy was chairman of the committee in charge.

All necessary preliminary arrangements for the initiation were handled by Harold Dorsett and Horace McCoy as representatives of the two groups.

The Sig Ep national headquarters reports that merger and induction proceedings have been completed at all the former T. U. O. chapters except at Auburn, Temple, and the University of California.

FRATERNITIES

● THETA DELTA CHI entertained Norman Hackett, the graduate secretary of the Grand Lodge of the fraternity last week.

A buffet supper was held at the house Sunday night in honor of the graduate brothers.

The Theta Deltas gave their annual spring festival at the house Saturday night. The music was furnished by Bob Garvin and his orchestra.

● SIGMA PHI EPSILON announces the pledging of Dwight Anderson.

● PHI SIGMA KAPPA held a tea dance at the house Sunday.

● SIGMA ALPHA EPSILON will give an informal Victoria dance at the house Thursday.

● SIGMA CHI gave a Mother's Day tea at the house Sunday.

Symphony Club Will Expand Yard Concerts

● THE SYMPHONY Club, which has held several concerts and recitals over the past year, is planning an expansion of its program during the summer session, Francis Barnard, president, announced last week.

The season of yard concerts will open with a one-act opera, "The Secret of Suzanne," by Wolf-Ferrari.

The Hatchet-Symphony Club summer-yard concerts, which were well-received last summer, are to be continued and extended by the new officers. Those elected at the last meeting of the organization, besides Barnard, include Milton Salkind, program director, and Martha Green, secretary-treasurer.

A concert by a string ensemble, two concerts with amplified recordings, and one large-scale project combining the musical talent on the campus, will finish the program planned for the summer months.

Strong Hall Girls Hold Spring Dance

By Rosalind Lovell

● AMID FESTIVE red streamers floating in the breeze atop the roof of Strong Hall, the damsels of the dormitory entertained their escorts and guests at their annual "Penthouse Cotillion."

Swaying to the melodic tunes of the Royal Blues Orchestra, Mierva Norton looked temptingly lovely in aquamarine chiffon, with swirling skirt and decollete as did Eleanor Corbett in shimmering blue satin.

Betty Hutto was a picture in a high-waisted white taffeta-touched off by gold trimming at the waist.

Miriam Schmidt's new sun tan was enhanced by a pastel blue lace with contrasting pink velvet bow at the neckline and in her hair.

Henrietta Parker, chairman of the dance, was in black, and pale blue lace. Kay Gehan appeared as smooth as usual in deep yellow or gandy.

Peace, quiet and darkness prevailed on one side of the penthouse while the other side was the scene of gay confusion. Potted palms, colorful beach chairs, and soft lamp lights, with a view of the glittering Potomac in the distance, all provided a romantic atmosphere.

During intermission, Kay Brown, talented Buff and Blue Room discoverer, sang "Among the Monakora," followed by Biff Borden, who sang "Please Be Kind."

The usually quiet study room was transformed into a punch bag, where Betty Whipple, in flowered chiffon and Elizabeth Mike in dazzling white crepe, gracefully served as hostesses.

Dr. John F. Latimer, Dr. Charles Merriman, and Mrs. Lee, the dormitory housemother, and Mr. and Mrs. Rob Thornton were chaperones for the evening.

Med Fraternity Elects Officers

● PHI DELTA EPSILON, honorary medical fraternity, has elected the following officers for 1938-39: President, Lester A. Barnett; vice president, Morris Mench; treasurer, Aaron Saldman; secretary, Sam Furowsky; marshal, Morris H. Rosenberg; and historian, Julius Kaufman.

The fraternity held a dance at the Sylvan Studios April 30 in honor of the medical school's 1938 graduates.

Author Leads Camping Trip

● MEMBERS OF THE University camp-leadership course will spend next weekend at the Y.W.C.A. Camp Kahler. Abbie Graham, well-known author and leader in the camping field, will lead the group.

Society Snoops

● MRS. LANE has decided that the KA's aren't to be allowed any women on their mountain top even though Columbia University seniors were allowed Madeline Carroll on their desert island—at least they are not to be allowed them officially though off the record its Jape Reese, Frances Roffe, and Nell Alexander, who incidentally is rumored to be wearing one of those Phi Sig pins.

SCORE 2-0

The rivalry between The Hatchet's Business and Editorial Staffs extends to many fields. Mary Douglas, who got such a big rush from Editor W. Rankin at the TNA Convention, has been visiting here twice since to see Business Manager Lucas.

We've heard of the difficulties Strong Hall has had in getting men to come to their dances, but we had proof of it when we saw Quigley's "Doc" there Wednesday night.

Buff And Blue Room Concludes First Season

By Estelle Moore

● THE ONLY STUDENT NIGHT CLUB in the East and one of the few dry ones brought to a successful close, Friday night, its first season on campus.

Art Brown, of the Mutual Broadcasting System, acted as master of ceremonies for the final floor show, which featured several persons who have been prominent in Buff and Blue Room programs throughout the year.

The program opened with a Chi Omega chorus which cleared the atmosphere with a snappy rendition of "Bye Bye Blues." The group included Min Sparks, Ann Blackstone, Angela Honan, Janice Norton and Patsy Mayfield.

Bill Wright and Francis Barnard sang "There's a Gold Mine in the Sky," a particularly appropriate number for those who like to dream about the better things of life as exams approach.

Eleanor Livingston of Delta Zeta was presented with the trophy for selling the most cherry blossoms in the recent contest sponsored by the Masonic Club. Second prize went to Mary Norris of Sigma Kappa, and third to Hilda Crampton of Phi Mu.

Margaret Berry sang "Whispering" and "Some Day My Ship Will Come In."

Biff Borden, one of the most frequent Buff and Blue entertainers, sang "Ebb Tide," while Frank Parsons gave out the current favorite, "Tipt-Toe-Tin."

The Buff and Blue Room has been a financial and social success, patronized by every group and faction on campus. Among prominent personalities who have been presented throughout the year are: Tommy Dorsey, Dee Everett, Gordon Hitchcock and Art Brown.

It has been announced that an all-college show made up of talent from the Buff and Blue Room will be presented over the radio next season.

The director of this unique student activity is Winnie DeAngellis, who has been assisted by Colbourne Swanson, Tom Dobson, Roger Power, Jack Shulman, and Bill Ewing.

SHE COMBS THE WORLD FOR PICTURES THAT THRILL

What Margaret Bourke-White, famous photographer, said when Ralph Martin asked if she found a difference in cigarettes

"I've found that Camels are very, very different, Mr. Martin—not just in one way, but in a lot of ways. For example, my nerves must be just as trustworthy as a steeple jack's. Camels don't jangle my nerves. They taste extra-mild and delicate too. Camels never leave an unpleasant after-taste, and they're so gentle to the throat. In fact, Camels agree with me in every way! I think that's what counts most—how your cigarette agrees with you!"

"Cigarettes seem pretty much alike to me. Do you find some difference between Camels and the others, Miss Bourke-White?"

STEEL MILLS, dams, skyscrapers, subways (as above)—appeal to Margaret Bourke-White. She's gone all over the United States. Her photographs are famous. They're different! Miss Bourke-White made that same remark about Camels to Ralph Martin at the New York World's Fair grounds (right).

Leading growers tell their preference in cigarettes—it's Camel!

"We smoke Camels because we know tobacco," tobacco planters say.

"I'm a tobacco planter," says Vertner Hutton, who has grown tobacco for 25 years. "The Camel folks pay a sight more for our better tobaccos. Last crop they took my finest grades. I smoke Camels—I know there's no substitute for expensive tobaccos. Most planters favor Camels."

"I've been planting tobacco for twenty years," says Harry C. King. "The Camel people bought the choice lots of my last crop—paid more for my best tobacco. So I know they use finer, more expensive tobaccos in Camels. That's one mighty good reason why my cigarette is Camel."

Positions Await Graduates

By Ira Brown

EXCELLENT opportunities for June graduates uncertain of their future may be found in the business and industrial world at the University Place. Cooperation with the University of Maryland positions for its graduates numerous employers offer "on-the-job" training programs according to Mrs. Vinnie Barrows, who directs the Placement Office. She added that these positions are often overlooked by graduates qualified for them and extended an invitation to interested graduates to confer with her concerning them.

For example, the National Recreation Association offers positions for those wishing to enter the field of recreation. A living allowance is paid while the student attends this preliminary course. The National Life Insurance Company offers positions to students interested in the agency or executive positions.

Asked what are the qualifications, Mrs. Barrows recommended to these graduates: intelligence, good grades, an ability to record, and that elusive quality called personality. The corporations are looking for people who can do the job and hence come from the Universities.

In addition to the business opportunities a great many calls for graduates come to the University Placement Office. One asking for a psychology major received a call from a large well-known university. Also, occasional calls for research workers in science come to the office.

Calls for teachers come in frequently, Mrs. Barrows pointed out, and are often missed by graduates who might be interested in them.

The York Chemical Co., through its school of applied merchandising, offers positions for sales service. R. H. May Co., a large cash department store in New York, has a training course after which one is placed in the department for which he is best fitted.

At the University Union, Firestone, Goodrich and Armstrong, Cork, are offering positions offering similar opportunities of intensive training followed by advancement into sales or executive positions.

Security of the Government is another field. Barrows observed, present graduates from venture into the business world, which offers higher rewards to those having the requisite high intelligence and good personality.

an Is New Associate Editor

ROBERT LINEHAN, a member of the Hatchet Staff, was elected to the board of editors of the Hatchet at a recent meeting held at a meeting of the Publications Committee.

Linehan, who is also editor of the Hatchet, has served on the Hatchet staff for two years, covering the Cherry Tree as a cub reporter and this year doing the making of the society page and acting as assistant head of the copy desk.

At the same time 12 junior reporters were elected to the staff. They are: Hugh Allen, Murray Berwick, Ira Brown, Manning Claggett, Roy Collins, Dan Doison, James Edmunds, Bob Evans, A. C. Ganss, Frank Mann, Bruce Stangs, and Anne Thomas.

Cherry Tree Elects Two Editors For 1939

ESTHER YANOVSKY and Virginia Tehas have been appointed co-editors of the 1939 Cherry Tree, replacing Mary Jo Mitchell, according to an announcement made by the Publications Office Sunday.

Dee Shepard has been named business manager, succeeding Frank Mitchell, who acted in that capacity this year.

Yanovsky was editor in charge of the stenographic staff last year and has been on the staff for three years. She is a member of Delta Zeta, Mortar Board and Pi Delta Epsilon.

Tehas was organizations editor this year and she has also been on the staff for three years. She is a member of Pi Beta Phi and vice president of Pi Delta Epsilon. Both women are night school students.

Other appointments are Brown Langanfelder, photographic editor; Helen McNell, stenographic editor; and Marie McNeese, organizations editor. The art editor will be appointed next fall.

Senior staff appointments are: A. C. Johnson, in charge of features; Ruth Leavitt, as senior class editor; Marjorie Allen, assistant organizations editor; and Anne Thomas, as copy editor.

These appointments are subject to approval by the Publications Committee.

Activity

terms, to insure continuity of the Council's personnel. The present functional officers will serve from this June until June, 1939.

There will be another activity group election in February, 1939. For the first full term, running from February to February.

Gausmann Heads Conventions
All conventions will meet under chairmanship of Elections Chairman Bill Gausmann, who will not, however, have any vote, even when there is a tie, except in matters of procedure.

The Articles provided that where any convention does not elect a delegate, the Student Council may fill the vacancy arising from such failure.

Activities Must Notify
Organizations may use their own methods of choosing delegates, provided the elections are legal under the various constitutions. The Elections Chairman is empowered to refuse to seat any delegate "not properly elected" from his activity, and will postpone any convention in which such a delegate appears.

Each activity must notify the Elections Chairman of the personnel of its delegation.

Honorarys Not Included
Any organization not listed in the official classifications may proceed to elect its delegates and notify the committee, which will assign delegates to the proper convention.

Honorary and professional societies will not participate, in accordance with the Articles.

Official Classifications
Official classifications of all activities are as follows:

1. Convention for Freshman Director: Freshman and Sophomore clubs.
2. Forensics: Cue and Curtain; debate; Union.
3. Music: Band; Glee Club; Symphony Club.
4. Publications: The Cherry Tree; The Hatchet.
5. Departmental clubs: American Institute of Electrical Engineers; American Society of Civil Engineers; American Society of Mechanical Engineers; French Club; German Club; Hamiltonian Society; History Club; Home Economics Club; Library Science Club; Literary Club; Mathematics Club; Philosophy Club; Psychology Club; Sociology Club; Spanish Club.
6. Miscellaneous organizations: Aukiah Baptist Student Union; Christian Science Organization; Colonial Campus Club; Episcopal Club; Fine Swimming Club; International Students Society; Luther Club; Magna Charta Club; Masonic Club; Newman Club; Orchestral Men's Independent; Philippines Club; Radio Club; Riding Club; Wesley Club.

Education Group Elects Griffith

ELIZABETH GRIFFITH was elected president of Pi Lambda Theta, honorary education sorority, at a business meeting of the society Saturday afternoon in Columbian House.

The other new officers are: Mrs. Laskey Howard, vice president; Catherine Bishop, corresponding secretary; Eleanor King, keeper of records; Mary Raffall, treasurer.

The following were initiated into the organization after a banquet Saturday evening in the Hay-Adams House.

Jane Burke, Lena Butum, Ofelia Clasin, Winifred Cox, Dorothea Drummond, Gladys Gallup, Eleanor Garner, Esther Green, Flora Houston, Elizabeth MacDonald, Margaret Marritt, Alma Mielson, and Myrtle Sutherland.

To be eligible for membership a student must be in the upper fourth of the students enrolled in the School of Education, must have given evidence of high professional interest, outstanding leadership and exceptional promise in the field of education, and must have been recommended by two members of the education faculty.

Cherry Tree Goes On Sale

"THE CHERRY TREE" for 1938 will be issued to the student body between the 15th and 20th of this month, Mary Jo Mitchell, editor, announced Sunday.

The book, which is the yearly chronicle of the University, will be available at the cashier's office upon payment of the second dollar, as specified on the receipt.

Subscriptions can still be made by paying one dollar down or two dollars in full payment.

Yost Announces Staff Vacancies

SEVERAL VACANCIES have recently occurred on the business staff of The Hatchet due to eligibility rules, Paul N. Yost, business manager, announced Sunday.

Yost is preparing to recruit a Summer staff, and wants to give all interested advertising salesmen a chance to work this summer.

The summer training would help to familiarize the men with the work and prepare them for the fall term, he said.

Students wishing to fill these vacancies should apply at the Hatchet office at 2 p.m., May 14.

Election Rules

FOLLOWING are the complete election rules, approved by the Student Council May 4, for the conduct of activities group elections.

I. These rules shall govern the selection of delegates to the conventions for the election of activities representatives to the 1938-39 Student Council, and the Freshman Director.

II. The Freshman Director shall serve until June, 1939; the activities representatives until February, 1939, as provided in the Articles of Student Government.

III. The conventions and the meetings electing delegates to them shall be governed by Robert's Rules of Order, revised.

IV. The election shall be presided over by the Elections Chairman of the Student Council, who shall not have a vote in case of evenly divided disputes, except on matters of procedure; and who shall in no way interfere with the preference for any of the candidates.

V. The Elections Chairman shall be in no way bound to enforce any instructions placed upon delegates by the organizations electing them, and it shall be his duty to inform all concerned that the practice of instructing delegates is regarded as unfavorable to the future of student government by the Student Council.

VI. The Elections Chairman shall be in no way bound to respect any plan of rotation, past or present, and shall make known to all concerned that the Student Council regards this practice as detrimental to student government.

VII. The Elections Chairman shall, after a full and fair hearing, be empowered to refuse to seat any delegates not properly elected from the activities they claim to represent, and shall refuse to convene any convention in which such delegates are seated, postponing it until delegates have been properly elected.

VIII. The election of the Freshman Director shall take place at 3 p.m., Wednesday, May 11; the representative from Forensics shall be elected at 8:15 p.m., Thursday, May 12; Music, Friday, May 13, at 8:15 p.m.; Publications, Saturday, May 14, at 2 p.m.; Departmental Clubs, Monday, May 16, at 8:15 p.m.; and Miscellaneous Organizations, Tuesday, May 17, at 8:15 p.m.

IX. Each activity concerned shall elect three delegates to the proper convention, and shall notify the Elections Chairman as to the personnel of its delegation prior to the sitting of the convention.

X. Each delegate shall have, as an individual, one vote in all matters before the convention to which he is elected.

Don't Be Med!

by Hugh Allen

EXCAVATING for the new Med School building was recently begun, a well-informed medic informed me last week. Where?

Out front he replied, indicating a hole Peepo was digging in H Street.

It's a well known fact that med students have to know their anatomy to a fine point, but I understand that a large number recently took a vivid interest in art, so much, in fact, that they disrupted three classes.

Watson probably has the name, address and any other pertinent information if anyone is interested, was doing in a cave at Harper's Ferry, Sunday. Who was the pretty little femme, and how did he get the mud all over his feet and trousers?

I wonder why Dot Yeager sent Charlie Hughes to get Rapee from "Schmitt" at the recent election? Maybe Payne had better see a doctor. He seems to have had a hard time passing the library on the 30th.

It is rumored that Bill Miller has stopped attending dances lately. I wonder if his girl friend had anything to do with it? It seems as though she has taken his tux home for safe keeping—not from moths.

No more pathology lab intermissions since last Wednesday, I was informed. Lab members were enjoying a smoke out front the other day when Dr. Snyder called out the window for them to "come on up."

"Come on down and get us," some bright student replied.

I wonder why Budget has taken such an interest in outside clinical work, lately. Maybe one of the girl students is the cause of it.

Flash—Watson won a cigar smoking contest while in Canada. His official speed (according to him) was .0061 m.p.h.

Dorothy Ames, (3.27), Vice-President of Student Council, Vice-President of Junior College Council, Varsity Debater, Co-Winner of Intersorority Debate, member of feature staff of Cherry Tree, Freshman Director of Homecoming, Coordinator of Food Drive, member of Debate Society, Hatchet Junior Staff, and Student Life Committee, Corresponding Secretary of Kappa Kappa Gamma Sorority, and Asst. Director of Cue and Curtain Publication.

All of the members of the Council were said to be in accord with Gausmann's program.

At the final meeting of the Union three weeks ago Howard Ennes, prominent in the Left party, asked unanimous consent of the delegation to discuss the present position of the body. He, along with Gausmann and others, brought out the Union had not been working "properly" and asked that changes be considered.

Recalling that it was decided to give the three-party system another try last September, Ennes maintained that while the Union worked fairly well, the party system was largely responsible for the inability to interest the student body at large.

It was felt by some that the five meetings held this year were too few to sustain interest. These so-called obstacles, the party system and the number of meetings, were promised a thorough hearing by members of the Council.

The new system is directly opposite to the transmitting in use today. At present "amplitude modulation" is the form used, in which the varying sound waves are sent out over the air by a fast changing power, while the frequency remains constant.

In the new system, the power remains constant and changing frequencies transmit the sound waves.

Columbia University, in post graduate courses, is the only university in the country today offering such courses in radio, Lohnes said.

Capt. Carter Clarke, in charge of the War Department Message Center, and Capt. Samuel Collins, "father" of the Army amateur network, both expressed beliefs that the University would be turning down a wonderful opportunity if the offer were not accepted.

The few students who know of the offer are highly in favor of it and are desirous of doing all they can to make it realized.

President Marvin when asked about the proposed station offered no comment.

Dr. Wilgus Notified Of Award

CURTIS WILGUS

DR. A. CURTIS WILGUS, professor of Hispanic-American history at the University, has just been notified of his election as Corresponding Member of the Academia Colombiana de Historia at Bogota, Colombia.

This is the sixth time that a Latin American country has elected Dr. Wilgus to its Academy of History.

Dr. Wilgus was also recently decorated with the Medal of Honor of Public Instruction of Venezuela.

This honor was conferred upon him by the President and Minister of Public Instruction of Venezuela.

Union

reached Thursday by members of the Executive Council.

Dissatisfaction, arising before the elections last September, its vocal intensity increasing at the end of nearly every session, has become "unyielding discontent," according to some of the members.

President James Speer, who is openly in favor of the proposed reconstruction, criticized the present structure of the Union yesterday.

"The present three-party system with their purely ideological delineations has been in effect since the Union's founding three years ago," Speer said.

"From the first there was a suspicion that all was not well with the system and at the end of the second year there was some agitation for a two-party system or a change in the names of parties."

Speer was apparently referring to a "bolt" of the Union which was threatened by a few members of the Right party last year. A plan was submitted to the Executive Council to form a Union composed of a liberal and conservative party.

"The Right party," backers of the plan claimed, "would secede from the Union if it wasn't adopted." The proposal was quickly scuttled, however, when it was found that a majority of the Right party members were not willing to pay the price of secession to effect a two-party system.

They wanted the change, it was brought out, but did not want to gain it by "threats."

Three proposals were made by Bill Gausmann (C) at the Executive Council's session last week. They were: 1—Abolition of restrictions in the Union Constitution as to the number of delegates and what the party names shall be; 2—Encouragement of the Union to form parties akin to national parties and blocs; 3—Provision for the election of the president of the Union by the whole Union rather than by the parties.

All of the members of the Council were said to be in accord with Gausmann's program.

At the final meeting of the Union three weeks ago Howard Ennes, prominent in the Left party, asked unanimous consent of the delegation to discuss the present position of the body. He, along with Gausmann and others, brought out the Union had not been working "properly" and asked that changes be considered.

Oratory Contest Is Postponed

THE ALL-UNIVERSITY Oratory Contest, sponsored by the Union, has been postponed until next fall, President James Speer has announced, due to insufficient registration.

"Ordinarily," he said, "four week's notice would have been sufficient to insure the entrance of a considerable number. But the intervening Easter holidays and the approaching examinations forced many who expressed interest in the contest to give up the idea."

The contest, which was planned for May 7, will probably be held between Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays next semester, with announcements going into The Hatchet well in advance of the actual holding of the competition.

Speeches were to be on subjects of political, economic, or social significance.

The contest was officially opened May 1 and will terminate on January 1, 1939, by which time all manuscripts must be submitted.

Clifford Odets, the Group's leading playwright; Harold Clurman, its director; and Molly Day Thacher, its play-reader, will act as judges.

Entries will be judged on the basis of the talent for the theatre which they display, adaptability to dramatic presentation, interest and general vitality.

Honor Society Initiates 8

ELEANOR SHERBURNE was elected secretary of Alpha Lambda Delta, freshman honorary scholastic sorority, at a business meeting of the society after the banquet and initiation last Tuesday.

Others who were initiated at the same time are: Emily Allen, Sue Burnett, Betty Bailey, Barbara Hodge, Florence actual; Betty Kosow, Doris Ludwig, Anita Maltz.

Dr. Wilgus was also recently decorated with the Medal of Honor of Public Instruction of Venezuela.

This honor was conferred upon him by the President and Minister of Public Instruction of Venezuela.

The Riding Club is sponsoring a moonlight ride Friday from the Four Corners Stables. The charge for the ride and refreshments will be $1.25.

All those planning to come should meet at the Kappa Delta house at 8 p.m.

Election of officers will be held Wednesday, May 18, at 8 p.m. in D-3.

Senator Lundeen, whose topic was "New Trends Facing Youth," said that there was no longer a physical frontier for youth to face; therefore, they must face the new party lines of a legislative frontier, and recognize these new party lines, since both parties who have been in power have failed.

Miss Rankin, rather than giving a formal address on "Peace and Foreign Affairs," conducted a discussion, allowing the students to ask questions throughout. Her main points were that the greatest enemy to peace in this country is fear. She said that if we can rid this country of its fear of war, then there will be no war.

"It's Up to the Women"

She continued, saying that it is up to the women of the country to be the guiding lights for peace. She also said that there can be no justified war for the United States.

Faculty representatives of the four universities, and the round table speakers were the guests at the luncheon. The faculty representatives from this University were Dean William C. Johnstone and DeWitt Bennett, chairman of the Student Life Committee.

Georgetown University led in attendance, with 32 fresh attending. There were 25 from this University, 4 from Maryland University and 4 from American University.

No one appeared to represent Catholic University, although the Freshman Class President had promised cooperation and participation.

$500 Prize Offered For Play

SEEKING TO PROMOTE and stimulate youthful writing talent, the Group Theatre of New York City is offering a prize of $500 for the best play submitted by a writer under 25 years of age.

Particularly concentrating on universities and colleges throughout the nation, the Group Theatre places no restriction on plays submitted as to subject matter, style, form, or length.

The contest was officially opened May 1 and will terminate on January 1, 1939, by which time all manuscripts must be submitted.

Clifford Odets, the Group's leading playwright; Harold Clurman, its director; and Molly Day Thacher, its play-reader, will act as judges.

Buff Golfers Win Meet At Westminster; Hurd And Betch Leads Victors

IN SPITE OF THE LOSS of Charley Hurd, the varsity golf team won the Intercollegiate Middle Atlantic Golf meet last Sunday at Westminster, Maryland. Eight universities competed in the meet, which was sponsored by Western Maryland University.

The members of the Colonial golf team were Bill Hurd, Carl Betch, Bus Fleming, and Bill Rochelle.

Led by Bill Hurd and Carl Betch, the Colonials had little trouble annexing the cup on the hilly fairway. A stiff wind also bothered the golfers throughout the tournament. Betch turned in a 158 card for the thirty-six hole grind and tied for third low score.

Colonials 29 Strokes Ahead

Averaging seven and a quarter strokes per man, the Buffnien finished 29 strokes ahead of Western Maryland, host team and was in front of the other District teams entered. Maryland finished in third place and Catholic U. was near the bottom of the list.

Bill Hurd and Carl Betch led the Colonial golfers in this tournament. Hurd was out in 76 and in with 82 for the 36 holes, while Betch carded 79 both times to total 158 and the Hurd for third low honors.

Otto Griner, ranking Baltimore golfer, representing Baltimore U. came in with low scores of 144, shooting 73 and 71 cards. John Farrell of Loyola College was second low with 76 and 73 for a 149 total. The other teams in the meet were St. Johns and Catowba.

District Meet Possible

Although the meet definitely established the Colonials as the superior team in the District, a District Collegiate meet may be staged here later this month, which will include the strong Georgetown team.

It is interesting to note that the entire team is made up of fraternity men who were winners in the Interfraternity meet held early this year at Bannockburn.

Oland Defeats Englehardt For Handball Title

JACK OLAND won the fourth annual University handball tournament by defeating Walter Englehardt in the finals at the Y.M.C.A. courts last Thursday.

The scores were 9-21, 21-16, 21-8. Oland won his way to the finals by defeating Walter's brother Charles in the semifinals; Charles was the defending champion.

The victory was quite surprising because Englehardt had been playing No. 1 position on the varsity team with Oland playing as No. 2.

Final Examination Schedule

May 25—June 4, 1938

The class schedule is suspended during the examination period. Examinations will be two hours in length. Books and scratch papers may not be taken into the examination room unless authorized by the instructor in charge.

Third group courses are not included. Courses in Law, Medicine and Pharmacy will be arranged by each school involved. Conflicts which cannot be adjusted with the instructor, and errors should be reported to the Registrar.

ENGINEERS

By Bob Evans

DEAN JOHN R. LAPHAM, of the school of engineers, will conduct the Materials of Construction class on its annual inspection tour to Sparrows Point Steel Plant and to the Baltimore Copper Smelting Plant Friday.

Those interested in the trip, which will be an all-day excursion, should be ready to leave the school at 8 a.m., returning between 5 and 6 p.m.

Highlights of the trip will include pouring of steel, observing the rolling mills in action, seeing copper smelted and poured, and many other interesting features too numerous to mention here.

The trip is not restricted to members of the materials class and all interested persons should communicate their intentions to Dean Lapham, so transportation may be arranged.

A SLIDE RULE was given to J. R. L. Beane, Jr., M. E. student, as an indication of recognition for an excellent talk on "Welding of Steel Rails for Railroad Trackage" at the recent annual A. S. M. E. convention in Toronto, Canada.

Professor Benjamin Carpenter Cruikshanks of the School of Engineering, along with Raymond Muth, Lawrence Froyd, John Goff, Howard Wilson, J. Lane and J. R. L. Beane, Jr., student members of the A. S. M. E. represented G. W. at the convention.

An enjoyable time was had by all, particularly those who stopped off at Niagara Falls on the way.

ELECTION of officers of Theta Tau, national professional engineering fraternity, will be held tomorrow night in D-204 at 7 o'clock.

German Club Reorganizes

A REORGANIZATION meeting of the German Club will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the parlor of Strong Hall. Election of officers for next year will take place.

Dr. Edward Sehrt, head of the German department, will be guest of honor.

Delta Phi Epsilon

Names Padley President

DELTA PHI EPSILON, foreign service fraternity, last week elected the following officers for next year: A. F. Padley, president; Walter Lewis, vice-president; James A. Hobbs, secretary; and Robert Garlich, treasurer. Walter Lewis was appointed pledge counselor, and Henry Allen, parliamentarian.

The Chamber of Commerce of the District of Columbia has asked the fraternity to make arrangements for the observance of National Foreign Trade Week, to be held the third week of May.

Dr. Leo J. Schablin, alumni secretary, is general chairman, and Henry Allen, of the University chapter, is in charge of publicity.

Delta Phi Epsilon will hold its biennial national convention at the Hotel Lincoln in New York, June 16 to 19, inclusive. Henry Allen, the retiring president, and Fred Padley, the new president, will serve as delegates. Walter Lewis and Marvin Wilbur were chosen as alternates.

Patrick Speaks

For Botanists

AT A MEETING of the Botany Seminar, held May 5, Dr. A. L. Patrick, of the Soil and Conservation Service, was guest speaker.

His subject was "The Place of Vegetation in Water Retardation and Erosion Control."

Dr. Seeger Will Speak To Math Club

"THE KINGDOM of the Sciences" will be Dr. Raymond John Seeger's topic at a special meeting of the Mathematics Club on the second floor of the Coulmbian House at 8:30 p.m. tonight.

Professor Seeger will explain that he does not believe mathematics is a science although the great mathematician, Carl Friedrich Gauss, said "Mathematics is the Queen of the Sciences, and Arithmetic the Queen of Mathematics."

Physics is the king of sciences, according to Dr. Seeger, and mathematics gains its place as queen through its close relationship to physics.

The club will hold an election of officers for next year at 8 p.m., and the new officers will be honored at the social meeting following Dr. Seeger's talk.

Johnson Earns

Ph. D. Degree At Michigan

PROFESSOR ARTHUR FREDERICK JOHNSON, executive officer in the School of Engineering here, has just completed the work required for the degree of Doctor of Philosophy at the University of Michigan.

Prof. Johnson, who is now on sabbatical leave, made an extensive study during the past year of "Fluid Film Flow" which embraces the hydrodynamic effects of fluid films flowing over surfaces of revolution.

The degree will be conferred on Professor Johnson in June.

A.K. Psi Hails Quinquennial

ALPHA KAPPA PSI, professional commerce fraternity, celebrated its fifth anniversary at a business meeting last Wednesday.

Dr. Richard N. Owens, professor of business administration, charter member of the University Chapter, and Deputy Counselor of the fraternity, gave an appropriate resume of the chapter's activities during its five years of life, stressing the events centering around the installation, and congratulating the chapter on the success of its professional programs.

Officers elected at a previous meeting were installed. They are as follows:

William M. Knott, president; John D. Maycock, vice-president; Ira R. Devonald, secretary; John Emshwiller, treasurer, and Robert H. Willie, master of rituals.

Independents

Elect Officers, Discuss Housing

MEN'S INDEPENDENTS will elect officers and hear a report on the proposed "Independent House" project at the regular meeting Thursday in D-204 at 8:30 p.m.

Also on the program will be a summary of proceedings at the first national independent students' convention in Norman, Oklahoma, last month, attended by Bruce Skaggs, president of the organization.
